

Klara Sochorova, MD

Klara Sochorova works as a diabetes specialist in training at the Institute for Clinical and Experimental Medicine in Prague, Czechia. She focuses on technology in diabetes, exercise and effective education, including diabetes camps for children and adults. She co-authored national diabetes technology guidelines. Klara is a member of the DiAvengers (a local initiative to increase practical diabetes skills of young specialists in training), who in 2020 organised the first patient-professional diabetes conference in Czechia. She is an IDF Young Leaders in Diabetes graduate. She has been living with type 1 diabetes since 2009.